Career Enhancement Competencies

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

Introduction:
This career enhancement competency is designed to draw together courses in the liberal arts disciplines that will prepare students for professional careers in many aspects of international affairs. Persons with skill and insight in this general area find their background of great value in private industry as well as in governmental service. They also pursue careers in international marketing and sales, in various aspects of public relations, and in international organizations. Those with highly developed language skills may find opportunities for careers in translating, interpreting, or tourism. Students with foreign language skill and study abroad experience should also investigate the Minor in International Studies. This CEC is especially appropriate for majors or minors in Geography, History, Politics, French, German, Italian, Spanish, East Asian Studies, African Studies, Latin American, Caribbean, and Latino/a Studies, Middle Eastern and South Asian Studies.
